

Pushwagner presents: MYTHISTORIA*Tanja Thorjussen in Window Box

Opening Friday July 6 18.00 – 20.00

Pushwagner Galleri is pleased to invite you to the opening of Tanja Thorjussen in Window Box. Pushwagner supports the young art scene by giving emerging artists space to show their work in Window Box, which presents monthly exhibitions curated by Thale Fastvold.

Tanja Thorjussen works in drawing, painting and installation. She will present a site specific work using wall collage with cut-out drawings and painting with ink on the window. The work explores underwater mythology and biology, a place which might feel alien, but is full of mystic and wonder. Mythistoria is Latin, meaning fabulous narrative and tall tale.

Thorjussen holds a bachelor of Fine Art from Parsons School of design in New York and has exhibited in New York, Oslo, Trondheim, Reykjavik and Zurich.

Thorjussen about her work:

- During a residency in Reykjavik I did a piece about a Whale and its mythology in a small window gallery, here in Window Box I want to expand on my exploration of this story or mythology of the "underworld" in the ocean. The Whale is an animal which holds mythological power as we can communicate with it, however I recently discovered plankton to be utmost fascinating in its form and function as well. In mythology, as with real world biology and ecology, all creatures small and large hold equal importance in the greater story. In Mythistoria I wish to explore and perhaps discover mythological stories of the ocean.

Opening hours: July 6 – August 28 (day and night)
